Born and raised in Vancouver, Julie has spent the last 13 years living and working in New York City, most notably as a Rockette at Radio City Music Hall since 2005. She has appeared as a Rockette numerous times on The Today Show, The Macy's Thanksgiving Day Parade, the Rockefeller Center Tree Lighting Ceremony, and on So You Think You Can Dance Canada. Other performance credits include Louise on the National Tour of Crazy For You, Margie in the Movie Remake of Bye Bye Birdie, regional productions of Chicago, Cabaret, Guys and

Dolls, 42nd Street, Evita, My Fair Lady, and Fiorello. As well as, the Arts Club production of The Producers at the Stanley Theatre.

Julie served as the Associate Choreographer and performed in the Kennedy Center's production of 'Celebrate Broadway', in Washington, D.C., starring John Lithgow and Linda Eder. Guest teaching highlights include the Mediterranean Festival of the Arts in Italy, DanzaActiva in South America, Broadway Dance Center, Dance Masters of America, The University of Maryland, and the National Dance Week Conventions. She also travels as an adjudicator for the American Dance Awards, Starquest, and The Pulse. Julie was part of the dance faculty at The American Musical and Dramatic Academy in New York for six years. Her students have found success as recording artists, Broadway performers, and in film and television. She now teaches dance at Capilano University and Harbour Dance Centre in Vancouver. She has also recently become the International Manager of Broadway Connection, a company providing Broadway educational opportunities to students across Canada. Julie has a true passion for education and the arts and hopes to inspire others to follow their dreams.
